WE NOMINATE

William Bruce McKinney, 18-year old organizer, part-time administrator and conductor of the newly instituted Princeton Community Band which this Friday evening—against the back-drop of Nassau Hall—will present the first in a series of three summer concerts designed for Greater Princeton's "listening pleasure." This latest community venture, a refreshing throwback to the serene decades when whole towns used to rock to the refrain of "Come on and hear," is being inaugurated with the joint financial backing of the Borough and Township Fathers and is providing long-sought outlets for the energies and interests of musical enthusiasts ranging in years from the 'teens to the 40's.

Behind the project lies nearly a year of planning and long weeks of thoughtful work. Encouraged by members of the Princeton High School Faculty, and with the help of established musical organizations, McKinney started rounding up his volunteers in the early spring. By the first evening rehearsal on June 25 at the High School, where rehearsals will continue on a twice-a-week basis throughout the summer months, the concert band had attained its present strength of approximately 50 members. Half of the group has been drawn from the High School but the others represent Princeton, Rutgers and Penn State Universities, Deerfield Academy and the Peddie Institute and a half-dozen municipalities in the Princeton environs.

A ranking member of the High School Class of 1956 and now standing well up in his studies as a newly qualified Princeton University sophomore, McKinney is a topnotch trumpeter who during the past year has helped bolster five local musical units—the Princeton Symphony Orchestra, the University Band and Orchestra, an undergraduate jazz combination and the Savoyards. Undecided as to whether or not to "major" in Mathematics or Music, two departments of study between which there is a curious and striking affinity, McKinney this summer is devoting his "spare time" to a voluntary course in "Elementary Harmony and Counterpoint" so that he may avoid apparent course conflicts in the academic year ahead.

The first son to follow his mother, a gifted pianist, on to Town Topics' front page, and the son of a research chemist with the Armstrong Cork Company, McKinney—unlike many young men with a driving interest—is an extremely well balanced individual, combining a plethora of activities with music. In his senior High School year, for instance, he managed the baseball team, presided over the chess club and served as student conductor of the school band. This Pittsburgh-born Princetonian, a community roofer since he entered the Valley Road School in 1944, is currently contemplating a teaching career, on either the college or secondary school levels, and, when listing special interests, will mention sailing, swimming, "some cooking," reading in the field of history and outdoor life in general.

For adding to Princeton's pleasures in the "good old summertime;" for actually succeeding in enlisting the enthusiastic support of the Borough Mayor and Council and the Township Committee; for helping provide additional opportunities for talented music-makers; he is Town Topics' nominee for

TAX BILLS HIT HOME

Signs of Protest. Though little of the discontent over taxes in Princeton Township had reached the surface in the first week since the new 1957 bills were sent, there are signs that a fundamental change is occurring as the implications of the new tax structure are understood.

On the one hand, Township residents who received large increases in their taxes have revived attacks on the recent revaluation at 100% of true value. There is talk of protest and appeal in large numbers and the appraisal of land at new, greatly enhanced rates is a focal point of attack.

This is viewed in many quarters as a natural result of the tax readjustments of this year, or as just plain "grinding" at the effects of the apparently inevitable cost spiral. The Township Committee's letter which accompanied the current tax bills has also minimized complaints about Township taxes in relation to other communities and about the actual sharing of the tax dollar between the school system, Mercer County and local government.

On the other hand, reports have been growing of Township home and land owners who feel they are being "squeezed out of the community." Many of them are in the more or less fixed income group and many others are in education in Princeton.

The steady rise of land values here (reflected, naturally, in the new assessments) and the pattern of increase in school and government requirements each year in the foreseeable future have caused landowners to hesitate in building. A slight movement is also noticeable towards selling existing homes and leaving Princeton.

"The Squeeze" thus appears to be an increasingly serious problem for younger people in the research and educational fields and tax rates may be only still another force in altering the essential character of the town.

Appeals Procedure. At the first of the week, few calls and no checks written "under protest" had been received at the Township Tax Office. Property owners have until August 15 to appeal.

The appeal procedure: a letter must be written asking for an appeal application form to the Mercer County Tax Board, County Courthouse, Trenton. The completed application must be returned to the County Tax Board by the August 15 deadline.

HOUSING REPORT BACKED

Goheen, Mackay Concur. Last week's report by the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Housing has drawn support for its basic principles from two of Princeton's best-known educators. Dr. Robert F. Goheen, newly-inducted President of the University, and Dr. John A. Mackay, Seminary President, have spoken in favor of the committee's fundamental ideology.

The report appraised the need for improved housing in the John-Witherspoon Street area, and considered in its conclusion "the almost insuperable difficulties Negroes face in securing alternate housing in Princeton." Attacking the "residential containment of Negro citizens," the committee declared that this community must "set an example of equality of opportunity in all aspects of its social and economic life."

Dr. Goheen, who was inducted as president of the university on July 1, said, "I feel strongly with the Mayor's Advisory Committee, on which several members of the University administration and faculty served, that it is impossible to justify the 'residential containment' of any minority group." He declared that "this community, in which education and research are the only major industries, should constantly seek to stand as an exemplar of the American ideals of democracy and equity."

Dr. Mackay, president of the seminary, felt that the committee report coincided with his belief that "nobody should be presented from locating on a given piece of ground on the basis of race, culture or religion. All residents should be free to move where they want to and are able to."

He pointed out, however, that "mere physical contiguity between peoples of different origins doesn't solve the problem. It would be naive to think so." He said it was necessary for a feeling of spiritual community to develop which can only come about once meetings in common have been established.

Dr. Mackay also emphasized that peoples of similar origins like to live near each other. "It's not simply a question of civic rights." He said Negro families like to live near other Negro families in the same manner "that Scotchmen abroad like the company of other Scotchmen. What is wanted, he declared, is equality of opportunity."

Good Sound Board. Mayor Sturges to whom the report was directed felt that the committee "has been a good sounding board" —Continued on Page 2

RAINCOATS AND VITAMINS

You usually buy a raincoat at the clothing store you've patronized for years. If some unknown manufacturer offers you a big saving, and you take a chance, and the coat turns out to leak . . . well, not too much harm is done. You get wet. You throw away the coat and go back to the store you know.

You can't do the same with vitamins. Nobody takes a chance on health—his own or his family's.

When you buy vitamins, choose one of the absolutely reliable, nationally-known brands we feature. This is basic health insurance. Our pharmacists and specially-trained clerks are qualified to answer many of your questions about vitamin supplements to the diet. In some cases, of course, it is necessary to consult a physician.

In no case is it safe to chance the quality of the vitamins you take. If any member of your family takes vitamins, visit our well-stocked and professionally-supervised vitamin department soon.

PROGRESS REPORT

Avalon Coming Down, Y.U. Two weeks ago this week told the Princeton Community that its long-awaited new YMCA-YWCA building is finally entering the brick-and-mortar stage, creating an optimistic situation at last.

The first was a cautious statement from the trustees that John A. Ehrhart had laid the basic bones of the new, and the second was activity within Avalon, which proved to be certain Valentine's day-time holders of the site where the new YM-YW structure will rise.

The trustees met Monday evening and issued the following statement: "The author of the YMCA-YWCA authorized proceeding with the demolition of the YMCA-YWCA building, including the school unit (activities center unit) and the swimming pool-locker units, leaving the internal equipment of the pool and locker room for construction later when funds are available."

"The awarding of the contract was deferred pending final negotiations with contractors. A contract was signed for the demolition of Avalon. Plans are being formulated for a drive for funds to complete the project."

Final negotiations with the contractors will apparently determine how much the $50,000 on hand will be required to go towards completing the structure.

It is understood that the trustees may be able to furnish an architect's services, as well as the services of an engineer, along with more extensive details of the structure which is now apparently finally becoming a reality.

It was learned that there are five contractors, it was learned, only one of them from Princeton. Those under consideration are Lewis, Ehrhart, Son, William Ehrhart, Tom and Reynolds, Mahoney-Trost and John W. Ryan. A decision on the selection of the contractor is expected before demolition of Avalon is completed.

PERSONALITIES

George W. Loos, 50 Princeton Avenue, who has recently culminated an unusual hobby with the addition of his 67th chess set to a collection called "Famous Sets," a point in this country and abroad. Originally interested in owning clocks with unusual faces, he turned to chess boards and players, now has one of the most varied collections in existence. (For picture and story, see page 14.)

Mario Silioti, University Play-er, who has staged a number of "Orange and Wilder" "The Skin of Our Teeth" currently at Murray Theatre. He is by now a favorite of long standing with Princeton audiences, having participated in every production for many and varied productions. (For News of the Theatres, see Pages 5, 6 and 11.)

Donald F. Gandy, a Devereux Avenue boy who has yet to undergo an experience that must eventually come to all coaches. After two years of 21 inter-collegiate, national and international levels, the 26-year old coach of Princeton's 150-lb. varsity crew has never seen Orange and Black in their oars in a race. (For details of the successful defense of the Thames Challenge Cup in England last week, see Sports in Princeton, page 18.)

TOPICS Of the Town

BOROUGH COUNCIL

Municipal Kaleidoscope. "If we were to raise $100,000 for dog license by 31, we would be able to hire a hall for the crowd, but for a $174,500 bond issue no one turns out," spoke Mayor Sturges at the close of the recent hearing on the bond ordinance that will enable the Borough to proceed with the acquisition and development of the "Public Service Parking Yard" in the Witherspoon-Wiggins area.

The lone dissent when it came to the vote was that of the Borough, a move strongly endorsed by the Princeton Business Association and the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Parking was Lawrence R. Sturges, Harrison Street, who seriously questioned the wisdom of Mayor and Council in "penalizing" Borough taxpayers in order to "provide parking for others."

In reply to Mr. Dupraz's contention that it would be better to foster revenue-producing commercial development than to attempt to create additional off-street parking in the downtown business section, Mayor Sturges emphasized the importance of strengthening the Borough's economy in face of ever-mounting competition, and pointed out that the Borough in acquiring the strategic plot is bound to dedicate it to "public-use purposes."

"War of Roses" As reported a month ago, the fate of 154-year old Rose Cottage continues to hang in the balance, with Mayor and Council forwarding to the Trustees of the Swann Estate (George Knaeble and David R. Winans) widely varying builders' estimates of $10,000 to $60,000, on what would be involved in making the sprawling cottage structurally sound.

The estimated cost of repair with previously expressed opinions and prepared at the behest of the officers of the Princeton Cooperative Nursery School, will be accompanied by a strong letter from the June 15 meeting of the Committee urging the preservation of the building as a proper meeting place for any number of Princeton organizations.

It was brought out that a variety of groups, many of which have never before expressed an interest in maintaining the one-story building located between Borough Hall and the Library, would be interested in taking advantage of the Cottage's facilities. Among those cited were the Republican and Democratic Clubs, the League of Women Voters, the Jaycees, and several dancing schools.

Out of the Rose Cottage discussions came an urgent and yet relatively uncomprehensive point-of-view. Maurice A. Mather conjured up the 15-year old Community House proposal in a community "certainly big enough to have such a facility," while Don D. Coyle once more advocated the possibility of installing Mayor and Council as Trustees of the Swann Estate under which Borough Hall, adjacent buildings and

Defense Test Friday

All residents of New Jersey, as New York and Pennsylvania, will be required to participate Friday in an emergency Alert 1957. All municipalities and county civil defense organizations have received sealed envelopes which they will open following the alert signal to learn the exact location of a simulated bomb burst.

The public's first awareness of the drill will come with the alert—a steady three-minute blast on sirens at which radios and television sets will receive official civil defense instructions. About an hour later, a warbling three-minute siren will direct the public to take shelter.

In past drills, all traffic will come to halt and all streets will be cleared of pedestrians. After an interval of some minutes, repetition of the steady siren blast will indicate that it is safe to leave shelter.

property were bequeathed "to the people of Princeton."

Other Developments. Among the highlights of the murky evening in the newly-painted council chambers were the following:

• Approval of specifications for the construction of long-awaited Avalon Place, a project scheduled for fall completion.

• State Route 132, J. Tracy Woodward, a Hodge Road, about existing parking regulations on Hodge Road. Mr. Woodward feels that parking should be limited to one hour in the library and the maximum of two hours.

• Mayor Sturges' comments about the inaccuracies contained in the Township's recent letter to Township Council, particularly the omission of any mention of "sewer and garbage charges."

• Confirmation of the election of Michael C. Kopiner Jr., 15 Park Place, to membership in Mercer Engine Company No. 3.

ROAD FEAST

Many More in Township. Princeton Township's road system totals 1,400 feet of asphalt and 1,000 feet of concrete. Four more streets were added at the May 15 Township Committee meeting and a countryside full of additional thoroughfares is nearing municipal status.

Prospects for future roads also revealed that Princeton University's present plan for the section of Greytown between Harrison Street is unacceptable. Mayor Ralph S. Mason announced that the Planning Board at its meeting last week passed a resolution outlining cancellation and extension of three roads, Sycamore, Prospect and Lake Drive, on the Master Plan.

The Mayor's announcement was in response to a letter from Sterling H. Anders, 601 Lake Drive, requesting the opening of the streets involved. Mayor Mason pointed out that the present capital improvement funds did not provide for any of the work this year, but said the eventual sequence would see Sycamore, Lake Drive and then Prospect opened.

The roads accepted were Knoll

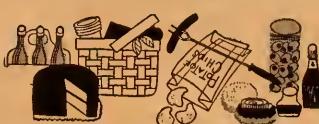

Drive, Dogwood Lane, part of Russell Road, and Hillside Road, the latter also requiring improvements costing $3,950. In addition, Albatross Drive and Magnolia Lane were accepted on first reading. Galbraith Drive and Farde Circle were referred for study by the engineer before voting.

The committee also heard inquiries on the possibility of acceleration of the time of seeking municipal status. They were Dempsey Avenue south of Culver; Riverside Drive, Longview and other streets in the Riverside area.

Still other road action involved discussions on improving the worn-out section on approach to Stoney Brook Bridge on the Pike and the passing by resolution of two Township road specifications. One concerned the placing of culverts on drains and especially the Township Engineer to call for a dust palliative on unsurfaced roads and areas. The palliative is a mixture of calcium chloride. Action on the Mt. Lucas sewer was postponed.

In other action, the committee received transfers of the C-2 liquor license of Mrs. Minnie Pirone to Felix Cenirino, 51 Leigh Avenue. The premises involved are at Birch Avenue. The Great Road, appeared before the committee in support of a request for

McCarter Speculation

The general theater public here will probably be strongly affected by the serious consideration now being given to the place of McCarter Theatre in the community and in the University.

It's evident that the theater will almost immediately have to move into a phase of increased use, booking etc. A likely guess is that Princeton University must now decide for or against an expensive item such as air conditioning for a complete summer program, as well as basic maintenance on the structure.

Observers here have long felt that a 600-seat theatre would offer a happy situation than the present McCarter or the tiny Murray. The possibility still exists that such an auditorium would form a natural part of a modernized University Art Center.

The fundamental problem still seems to be that of nourishing a real theater audience, which is difficult between the various "entertainment" offerings, and yet willing to see purely Princeton productions of drama classics.

picture genius was per usual — on three fronts. He excels as the stuffy prince, of 1931 vintage, and his gifted touch as director-producer is ever-apparent. Then, of course, he is a master of Latin, the unlikely co-star, Marilyn Monroe, who neatly fills the bill (as well as an eye-catching gown) in the role of the chorine, Miss Moneypenny, who shuns such a wonderful advantage, thanks largely to the manner in which she has been gilded by her talents as director. The man who is directing cast is fine and the Technicolor proves significant because it gives the pomp and lack-of-circumstance a much-needed bright hue.

ANOTHER BIG ROLE: Rock Hudson follows his hit in "Giant" with another big role in M.G.M.'s "Something of Value," playing through Saturday at the Princeton Playhouse.

at the picturesque barn.

The show stars Jack Cassidy, Beatrice Arthur and Lester Ferguson, along with Louise Hoff, Elizabeth Taylor, John Carr and Eugene Saks. The libretto is based on the play "Wallach and Ezra Stone" by the director, Rock Hudson.

The plot, handled for comic and risque overtones, is based on Carlo Goldoni's oldie "La Locandiera." The costume and decor have been kept in the 18th Century. The story concerns the adventures of the nine Goldoni characters and much of the plot structure, but the story has been completely rewritten.

Don Walker's name has appeared as arranger on numberless Broadway productions and television shows. Among the shows for which he has arranged are "The Music Man," "Central Park," "Carousel," "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," "Wish You Were Here," "Call Me Madam," "Wonderful Town," "The Pajama Game," "Silk Stockings," "Damn Yankees" and "The Most Happy Fella."

At 2:00 p.m. today, July 11, the Sunday "Music at Sundown" will present "The Magic Shoes," a play with music and dancing for children at the Bucks Playhouse. Graciemeane Sovietzoff, who danced in the lead role performed in London at the Metropolitan Opera House, tickets are 50c.

William Smithers and Sally Kemp head the cast who is returning to the stage in Miller's latest play, "The Man Who Had All the Luck," which will be the next attraction, opening July 22.

MUSIC CIRCUS

"Oklahoma!" runs through this coming Sunday evening at the Music Circus in Lambertville. The first of the great Rodgers and Hammerstein successes stars James Hurst as Curly, Jackey McKeever as Laurette and Virginia Martin as Ado Annie.

The next attraction at the tented-in-the-round stage will be "Plain and Fancy," which will run from July 16 through July 28.

POUND OF FLESH

Figure Measuring and a Fair for Figures has said that American women lost 4,500,000 inches last year and 3,500,000 pounds—collectively.

We do not have the local figures on this matter, but we have been in close touch with an enterprise in Hightstown called Slenderette. They have just pulled on your new knit bathing suit for the first time, we suggest a quick trip after a phone call to Hightstown 8-2217.

At Slenderette (air-conditioned, and free parking) you receive a figure analysis and one free treatment, after which you will probably be given a "Treatment." This consists of two or more visits a week until your particular problem is solved. This may take three months (average) or it may take a year, if your density is high.

Treatment consists of a bicycle—one of those stationary things (you can ride to Hightstown in a car if you don't) and a Battle Creek heating pad which will shake you up like a duster. The specialty of the house is a contoured table that rolls up and down under you while you lie on top of it.

Do this seven times a minute, with a heavier degree of pressure after you've gotten used to it. We understand that this is soothing enough to put you to sleep, but we have made no direct laboratory tests.

The whole works takes an hour, including the 40 minutes on the Contoured table. Slenderette is open five days a week from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and open Saturday from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Hilma Suydam, whom you may recall from her association with Margaret Jeffries' hairdressing salon here in Princeton.

Prices at Slenderette are reasonable. Just ask yourself, "What have I got to lose?"

Cox's Boxes. When a store carries absolutely everything that's merchandise, it's difficult to describe any one piece of stock as "new." At the moment it's picnic season, and on the theory that there may be someone who has not heard of Cox's Store, 182 Nassau, we are about to tell what Cox has for the picnickers.

The main thing that Cox has is a fine set of weekend hours: 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturday (and every weekday), and 7:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Sundays. This means that it really does not matter if you forgot to buy charcoal: Cox is open, and Cox has it. Films for the cameras? They're here, too.

Eat and Be Cool

Country dining always sounds like a good idea on a warm summer evening or a sleepy Sunday noon.

Take a drive any weekend evening to the Applegarth, just beyond Hightstown (Tony has an airfield, too, as you know, but at the moment we're in a convertible, top down).

The Applegarth has a new air-conditioning system to dry you off in a hurry. Drinks and food are first rate and the specialities are the best in the area. There is music as cool as the air, and an atmosphere that is most urban for a country location.

The Cranbury Inn, on Main Street in Cranbury, is a good old inn with such a country air that you expect to see stage-coaches waiting outside. Inside there is a bar, a restaurant, and a lounge so that you may drink and eat in relaxation and comfort.

Why not turn off your own air-conditioner and keep cool with somebody else's? (Eating somebody else's good cooking is a good idea, too.)

In the boxes and on the shelves you will find knives, forks, spoons, plates and cups, all paper. There are olives, pickles, potato chips, pretzels, cold cuts, bread and the Sunday "Times."

And way in the back there is a revolving rack of paper-back books, one of which is "The Tragedies of Shakespeare."

Put Off the Heat. Matchabelli, Coty and their various colleagues have created interest in keeping you cool and refreshed this summer and Thorncroft's Drug Store, 168 Nassau, is interested, too.

Matchabelli christens his offering "Summer Shower," and puts the name in spray mist that comes in an aerosol container. For a dollar, you may have four ounces of cologne or four bars of soap. There is an anti-perspirant spray and a stick deodorant, all with the "Summer Shower" label.

Coty likes combinations. Take a lipstick and liquid rouge, offer them together for $1.75 when they are really worth it, and you'll keep any customer cool. Toilet water in an atomizer should cost $2.50 but is offered for 50¢.

Yardley goes even farther and combines to infinity. In fact, you really ought to look at the chart for yourself. All we know is that you may have deodorant powder and—Continued on Page 8

MUSIC In Princeton

FIRST CONCERT

Community Band to Play Friday. The first in a series of three concerts planned for the summer season by the Princeton Community Band will be held Friday evening at 7:30. The public is invited to attend without charge on the campus in front of Nassau Hall.

Bruce McKinney, who has been responsible for organizing the community venture on the theory that "a band should have an opportunity to listen to music on a warm summer evening," will conduct. He will lead some 50 musicians from the Princeton area following the completion of twice-weekly rehearsals at Princeton High School.

Friday's program will open with the "Guadalcanal March," written for the motion picture "Victory at Sea" by Richard Rogers. Selections from the current Broadway hit, "My Fair Lady," will follow.

Next on the program will be the "First Suite in E-flat" by Gustav Holst and "Death Charge" from "Sweet Death." The concert will conclude with "Proud Heritage" by Lathem; David Bennett's "Broadcast from Brazil"; and "Gaily Parisson" by Jacques Offenbach.

The band's first appearance was made as part of the entertainment program preceding the July 4th fireworks last week in Palmer Stadium. The public is invited to attend the rehearsals as well as the concerts, with the former held each Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7:45 in the band room of the high school.

The band is operating for its first season on a budget slightly in excess of $100. In addition to private donations, $50 has been provided by the Borough of Princeton.

News Of The Theatres

MURRAY THEATRE
Fine Production. Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth" is being given a splendid showing by the University Players for the first time. It will go through Saturday night with 8:30 p.m. performances in the air-conditioned Murray Theatre.

In fact, the production may push the script to its limits of meaning for the present. "The Skin of Our Teeth" comes, absurdly, on the surface, as a heraldic technique of pet allegory.

If Mr. Wilder borrowed his central plot idea from James Joyce's "Finnegans Wake," he failed to take the heat out of them with the rest of his loot. His cyclical view of history is shoddy in detail and treatment, and the central poetic approach will never approach that of "Waiting for Godot" and the other more adequate developments from James Joyce.

However, Marie Slietti handled the play purely in terms of the theatre, and the result for University players was a success. Direction, plus the extraordinarily successful efforts of the technical staff, brought off technical effects the like of which this season has not seen all at once on opening night in the Murray for many a summer.

The complexity of the staging and great scenic credit should be shared by all for an imaginative effort. Not only are costumes, lighting, props, etc. here for the comedy, but a few of people must handle multiple roles. Mr. Slietti controlled all well.

The cast had a high unison quality. Ruth Williams and Mary Connelly conveyed a few extra moments of poignancy, and Mr. Williams did an outstanding scene when he tackled with the "pig" in his "pig" of his Cain role in the third act. His round of applause was deserved.

Michael Ryan certainly offered a stirring performance in his performance as George Antrobus, Mr. Wilder's odd perennial. He earned attention with the "pig" on the fire, especially, and others; however, there is a possible element of masterful command which wasn't part of his presentation.

In a particularly complex role, Neil Duncan succeeded in conveying (attractively) the eternal tororess and all that is unromantic about the unromantic human. She and Donald Moffat conquered one of the play's hardest problems when they succeeded in making the sudden transitions from "drama" to the reality of the theatre audience seem sensible, important, and well-handled.

There was lots of good support in other parts. Philip Minor as Tremayne, and Mr. Moffat and Joseph Bird in various connections were among those outstanding in this category.

In sum, the Players made the meaining of Mr. Wilder's play all too available, and the production that was well coordinated. It's also very true that many very amusing things happen in "The Skin of Our Teeth," many more than Wilder is concerned.

Does it make a very good play about the start and end of the world? Probably the question is unimportant so far as the good production at Murray Theatre is concerned.

RESERVOIR REPORT

Opponents Gain by Delay. Contesting efforts and further delay, both satisfied, the opposition to the proposed Stony Brook reservoir, marked the fourth in a series of legislative hearings Tuesday in Trenton. The session was also the fourth in a series of alternate proposals to the highly-controversial plan advanced last month by the New Jersey Water Resources Advisory Committee.

State Senator Wayne Belmont and Robert Crane, members of the committee conducting the hearings, both expressed the hope that the proposal to create a 1,500-acre reservoir in the Piney Section and another near Clinton will take the form of a referendum on the November ballot.

Estimates as to the price in which the plan would be received by voters of the State as a whole, but those battling the reservoirs are still looking for a showdown next fall when it would give New Jersey residents scores of miles away an opportunity to determine the future of a large slice of the Piney Section.

Among the comments made at Tuesday's hearing was a denial by Senator Crane that the reservoirs are "dead ducks."

He agreed, however, that the committee conducting the hearings is considering alternatives to the original proposal so that it may eventually give up using the best plan for conserving the water supply for industrial needs.

Among the latest suggestions was one advanced by Fred Van Deventer, of Mansfield Road.

The Republican candidate for Mercer County senator went on record in favor of increased use of water in the Delaware and Raritan Canal as a proper alter-

Rateable Loss Given

The Princeton Township Committee revealed this week an unexpected estimate of the property to be inundated if the proposed Stony Brook reservoir is built will mean loss in tax value to the municipality of $72,300. The sum represents $401,300 in buildings, $323,000 in land and $18,000 in personal property.

The Committee's figures were part of a statement to State Senator Dumont asking that due protection be granted present and future residents against inundation by canal water. The committee felt strongly that industrial need for water should not be given preference over residential requirements of the Princeton area.

In addition to assessing every Township taxer $32.50 a year for "the inconvenience of having a reservoir in his community" (based on the per capita cost in ratchets), the committee pointed out that other undesirable developments would follow construction of the reservoir. It stressed particularly that "the reservoir will be built in the most beautiful section of Princeton," road replacement problems and increased difficulty in serving a municipality bounded by a body of water and esthetic damage to property owners near the reservoir site with no hope of compensation.

Crane agreed. "The committee asserted firmly, 'is not something that is measured in dollars,' native to creating two new reservoirs.

Mr. VanDeventer declared that only a quarter of the 100 million gallon daily allotment from the canal is being used at present. It was his opinion that a series of dams be built across the Millstone and Raritan Rivers and the small reservoirs they would create be filled with canal water. He said his suggestion was subject to a check by state engineers but asserted it was wholly practical.

In addition to providing Somerset with a supply of reliable water, Mr. VanDeventer felt his plan would preserve both Mercer County properties and residential properties. His greatest asset not only was New Jersey an industrial state and that Mercer County was well known for the search for new industries, but said that water benefitting them should not be applied at the direct expense of established home owners.

The possibility that a vast supply of underground water in the Millstone and Bear Brook areas was being overlooked was drawn to the committee's attention. So was the possibility of getting water from an existing supply to Round Valley (already owned by the State), and a dam along the Delaware north of Trenton as a joint project with Pennsylvania.

The latter proposal will receive the committee's attention early next month, since September is the month generally conceded we must go to the Delaware eventually." But next month is August, thus postponing further action. Recounting the hearing, committee members made a special session of the Legislature—which must be called in order to place the proposal on the ballot.

Senator Dumont's comment near the close of the hearing, however, struck what might well be the current keynote: "Already there has been too much talk and too much time lost."

MORE HOMES PLANNED

Developments at Princetonville. Plans are now on the drawing board which will lead to a start in the near future of a high scale housing development on the Fackler Road-Princeton Pike tract just purchased as a part of Princetonville Residential Park.

The tract represents approximately 101 acres of the 539 optioned to Blackwell Smith, 500 Mercer Road, and Lee Jarrell, 150 Mercer Road, at a price reported to be $800,000. The seller is E. O. King of Lawrence Township.

The housing involved will place undeveloped land in the tract, set on lots of one and a half acres each. Mr. Smith said this week that he expected to present the plans to Lawrence authorities before the end of the month.

The other three parcels in the sale, totaling well over 400 acres, are to be used for lots for industrial research plants and a guiding plan of unified development. The land involved is approximately four miles from Princeton. Negotiations with interested companies are now in process.

COURT ACTION

Drunk Driver Checked. Roland Taylor, 64 Leigh Avenue, was fined a total of $265 with an alternative of 45 days in the county workhouse by Magistrate Paul R. Chesbro this morning on charges that included drunken driving.

Mr. Taylor, 42, was also found guilty of driving alone with only learner's permit. He had no license to suspend. Magistrate Chesterfield noted a medical report indicating the presence of .3 percent of alcohol.

Judgment was put over until next week on a case involving disorderly conduct charges against four youths. They were charged with disturbing the peace by playing the harmonica and using loud and obscene language on Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Sarah Voorhees, 11 Morrel Street.

Three of the defendants, Frederick Cavenagh, Brunswick; Fred Pike; Thomas O'Brien, 145 Spring Street; and Raymond Evans, 69 West Lane, entered places of no profit, while the fourth, Louis Rossi Jr., 285 Snowden Lane, was not present in court. All are 18 and 19.

The testimony taken at Tuesday's lengthy hearing included complaints of loud music and noisy neighbors, evidence that the radio was playing "rock 'n' roll" music; a statement that the Morrel Place residence was a complete shambles and that liquor was never present. Sgt. Peter J. McCrohan said that on six previous police visits to the house persons had jumped out of windows and had been discovered in medical evidence concerning Mrs. Voorhees was introduced.

Judge Chesterfield fined David O'Brien $10, 145 Spring Street, $15 and suspended a 30-day sentence on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. The offence occurred June 15 and involved Princeton alumni.

Township Court Action. James Craig, 18, of 58 Wilson Street, Trenton, received a sentence of 60 days in the Mercer County Workhouse in Township Court Tuesday night. Magistrate Louis R. Gerber presided. Craig charged with assaulting Julius F. Cross, 18, of 208 John Street on June 21 at John Street and Leigh Avenue.

Fines included: One of $10 against Helen Miller, 27, of failure to display proper litter plates; $10; and W. E. Pittman, 24, of 183 Hole Street, New Brunswick, speeding, $35.

Outdoor Dance on Saturday, Princeton's Teen Canteen has planned an outdoor dance for this Saturday, July 13, starting at 8:30 p.m. in the parking area at the rear of Princeton High School. Members are asked to bring their cards. Further information is available from Miss Jane Bachelet (1-4323).

ENOUGH IS ENOUGH! Both Mrs. Gerald Nelson, customer, and Arnold Reopek, a local window cleaner, have one thing New Jersey doesn't need: a general sales tax. Mrs. Nelson, on her check-out slip, figures everything costs plenty already. Mr. Reopek insists such a tax would be unjust as well as inconvenient. Some others share their sentiments, as indicated in Question of the Week below. (Town Topics Photo by Alan Richards)

Question of the Week

Question: Would you object if New Jersey followed the lead of many other states and decided to raise funds through a general sales tax?

Location: The Food Mart, 20 Witherspoon Street.

Grover Marshall, 46 Spring Street, instructor at Princeton University: I think I would. Not that I would object to paying it, but I would object to it being prima facie. I don't think it's fair in taxes that hit everyone—regardless of income—the same way.

Mrs. Gerald Nelson, 210 Elm Road, homemaker: Yes. It's an awful inconvenience. We don't have enough taxation already. Re-assessment really hurt a lot of people, and I feel some citizens are being taxed excessively—I mean plenty. I don't know what good purpose such a tax would be for, but I think we've enough!

Arnold Reopek, Trenton, grocer: From the merchants' point of view I figure it would be unfair. We deal with so many people who don't live in New Jersey that if they tax them anyway would be almost indecent. Those pennies add up—I know—and soon dollars would be missing from paychecks. Also, it would probably be a tremendous inconvenience for cashiers, since I have heard from friends in Pennsylvania and New York. Of course, this can't be compared to the monetary inconvenience of customers.

Mrs. Max Zoller, 100 Nassau Street, proprietor of stationery store: Yes, I would object. I think things are high already—without another tax added. Anyhow, our state government should be able to get along efficiently without additional taxes.

James Houterenville, 100 Chambers Street, liquor store clerk: I certainly would. After seeing our property taxes, I definitely think the state is getting ample loot. People resent paying extra money for sales taxes, though they don't mind so much if the taxes are "hidden" in some established amount. A sales tax would be embarrassing to merchants—as well as a tough bookkeeping problem—and a pain in the neck to buyers.

Mrs. Wilbur Morse Jr., 120 Prospect Avenue: I would object if it would depend on what it was raised for and how it was being spent. I wouldn't enjoy paying such a tax—we're already taxed enough!

Michael Dunn, White Horse, by profession: I would object. I don't like paying any more taxes than I have to. I think I'm paying enough—to much—already. I want to ask a question myself: how much wages can go up every time the tax goes up? I'll admit you're talking to a partial man. I'm sure because I'm paying money to Trenton for water during the water shortage and I can't get along without water. I've gotten along without a sales tax so far and it can continue to do so.

Jane McLean, Skillman, senior clerk in New York City: It certainly would bring up expenses, and naturally, on an object to spending more money, I would be willing with such a tax in New York, where there seems to be more government waste than here. I'm afraid it's inevitable for all states, however.

LOTS OF CHESS PIECES, NO OPPONENTS. G. W. P. Silvester of 50 Princeton Avenue now owns 67 exquisite chess sets from many countries and periods. His collection, probably one of the most complete in the United States, is crowned by a stunning chess board with inlaid wood dating back to 1587.

CHESS IN MANY LANDS

Collector Number 67
Silvester has the most unusual collection in America — and one of the most complete and beautiful of its kind — can be found at the home of George W. P. Silvester at 50 Princeton Avenue.

Mr. Silvester, who served his apprenticeship as a collector of clocks, is now the owner of 67 perfect examples of chess sets from many different countries and periods. This collection has been created mostly within the last dozen years. After Mr.
Silvester began his searching for clocks, he was expert at that, too.
When he stopped, he had 180 ironface clocks alone, to say nothing of the 100 or so from different kinds of faces. He had a head start on clocks, though, being engaged in the clock repair business in Princeton and his residence five years ago.

Some of the finest objects in the chess set collection were found in a number of European cities
when the Silvesters went abroad in 1954, but the trip nevertheless showed Mr. Silvester that New York and Philadelphia are among the best cities in the world for hunting such sets.

Seeing the beautifully-narranged and carefully-treated collection makes it obvious that each set represents a patient hunt for the most perfect pieces. Mr. Silvester has looked at and rejected numerous sets before selecting the ones to be included in his collection.

One of the most delightful sets was carved by Eskimos in Alaska before the United States bought the territory from Russia. The bishops are evil-looking Russians, while the king and queen are monarchs of Eskimos. The knights are walruses, and all the pawns are huskies.

A box of chess was bought in Berna-men, Mr. Silvester thinks, carved by a Napoleonic soldier while imprisoned. Venice yielded a set made from alabaster and ebony
by a master of ivory and ebony with tortoise shell and mother-of-pearl inlay. In Interlaken, Switzerland — famous as a highly specialized钟表making section —
Mr. Silvester found a seemingly colored, beautifully carved set with all the pieces representing Crusaders.

Almost 500 Years Old. The greatest find of the European journey was a fantastic box and board found in Lucerne, Switzerland.
The chess set enclosed in the box was not particularly old or beautiful, but the box and the board both dated from 1587, and must have been made by a master-craftsman, judging from the quality and delicacy of the inlaid woodwork. The box has two secret drawers, and the hinges are engraved with symbols of the period.

The scope and variety of ingenuity and beauty in the sets is impossible to describe in a short space, but some of the variations may be mentioned. One set, carved in 1720 for a German priest, has three-legged sal-ships, rocks, and elephants flank the king and queen instead of the bishops. One set is made up of vikings carrying swords and spears, and made of solid silver in Germany around the turn of the last century.

One set signifies the epochal change in warfare by including holy works and gongs among the weapons. In another set all the black pawns carry spears and the white pawns have shields. A novelty set — Mr. Silvester has about half a dozen which are novelty or in the novelty category, while the rest are all antiques — is made of dental cement and portrays characters from "Alice in Wonderland" and

"Through the Looking Glass" with the Red Queen and the Duchess as the two queens.

One of the most unusual sets features tables carved with filigree work and looking the same from both sides. Other sets, particularly some Chinese and Indian figures, are carved in the minutest possible detail.

Mr. Silvester would dream of giving up his unusual sets in his collection, but reserves an every-day set for that purpose.
The collected sets are kept in rooms which he has converted into locked cases in the basement of Mr.
Silvester's first home.

A whole room in the Silvesters' house is filled with other collected items, such as President Grover Cleveland's cribbage board made of a carved and decorated walrus tooth which gives complete pleasure to the owner. As a matter of fact, Mr. Silvester has only one problem — he cannot find enough opponents to provide him with steady games!

Help for the Friendless.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I have a home for friendless dogs on a hill-farm in southern Indiana. Sometimes, when our needs get the better of our ability, we ask help of those who do good. Will you be so good as to publish this list of things we need most for the 45 dogs we have here now? We find that other people have things which they are glad to send:

Food of any sort or food supplement for the basic diet;
or powdered meat or cod liver oil; vitamins; wheat germ;
year tablets; old towels and blankets; flea powders.

Just about anything can find a use, and no amount is too small to be applicable and to have our everlasting gratitude.

Fundamental issue.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It's hard to get serious about some problems, but I think the time has come to talk about the dangers of "public conveniences" here in Princeton.

I laughed when Sgt. Applegate spodlighted the problem a while back, but since then I've been traveling a great deal. Everywhere
I tell you, "public conveniences" are lifesavers. If people only thought about the subject in human terms!

To arouse public opinion, I propose two courses of action. First, that each Princetonian who suffers the tourist's trauma while vacationing, give at least one thought to the plight of visitors right in their own home town.
And second, that Princeton's business leaders, who should recognize their self interest in the comfort of the many visitors to this interesting community.

More and more tourists will visit Princeton in the years to come (assuming of course that they can get here).

Should we unwittingly make them suffer?

No, for this is an evident case for public action on a fundamental if minor issue.

Company Aids Hospital Drive.
The American Cyanamid Company
recently contributed $5,000 to Princeton Hospital's 54-bed expansion program. Robert P. Po-merman, manager of the company's Princeton plant, presented the check to John W. Kaufman, hospital administrator.

Those participating in the presentation were: H. H. Baber, Cyanamid Farm and Home
Division Manufacturing manager;
Clifford D. Sived, assistant general manager; and George R.
Gutting, chairman of the business committee of the hospital fund

The Princeton plant was singled out by the American Cyanamid Company for its record of merit and a special safety award given by the National Safety Council.
The plant, which operated with-

Crackdown On Litterbugs

In Princeton, after a "crackdown" order issued by Governor Robert B. Meyer, State Police have been asked to enforce strictly the law against persons who throw debris from moving vehicles.

It was pointed out that during the past two months, especially over weekends, the grass lawns in the state have been littered with bottles, cans, cartons and papers thrown from moving vehicles. The result is a great burden to the public and sudden swerving of vehicles can cause accidents resulting in minor or serious injury.

The fine for littering can be as high as $50 and/or 15 days in jail. The operator of a motor vehicle is held accountable for the action of his passengers, State Police said.

To Discuss Capital Punishment.
The Princeton Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will discuss capital punishment at its next meeting. The session will be held Thursday, July 18, at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Cyrus Young, 38 Hawthorne Avenue.

The purpose of the discussion is to inform Princetonians and other interested Princetonians with background information on the question. More detailed study of "capital punishment" in New Jersey will be made at a later meeting.

Summer Session at Hun. A program of instruction tailored to the needs of each student is being offered at the Hun School's summer sessions which opened Monday. The school will continue for a six-week period ending July 18.

Open to boys in high schools and preparatory schools, the program offers instruction either individually or in small groups.
English, Algebra, Geometry, French, Latin, History and Literature are taught either for review or remedial work.

Drake's has a record of 10-1-1, No. 2 in the league, and competition in the Princeton Community Softball League rates. Particularly interested in the key contest are (left to right) Ted Drake, manager of Drake's and current All-American, as well as Jim Kehoe, former coach and manager of NSC, playing shortstop and hitting well over .300, and Jim Kashy, NSC co-manager playing second and also batting .300 plus. To set the stage for the showdown encounter, Drake's won its final nine games of the season and NSC captured seven out of nine. (Alan Richards Photo)

21 IN A ROW

'Fifties Win Again at Henley. The Thames Challenge Cup, one of the top events of international rowing, was successfully defended last week at Henley, England, by Princeton's 150-lb. crew. None of the four opponents' regattas did better than those run by Princeton to the Orange and Black entry, although at one point in the final, the National Provincial Bank crew of London was within 10 yards of the victors with 400 yards to go.

Rowing a mile and 5/16 on successive days starting Wednesday, Princeton defeated, on the 20th, the Croxton Rowing Club of London, the Watfordford Boat Club, the Royal Air Force crew and the eight representing the National Provincial Bank. Times varied from 6:23 to 6:45, with the latter recorded in the final against stiff headwind. Princeton's 1953 crew holds the course record for the Thames Cup—6:45.

The Tigers' lightweights have now won 21 straight races over a total of 30 opponents. A Princeton varsity 150-lb. crew last was beaten on May 14, 1955.

The coxswain of the victorious eight was Peter Alsoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Alsoy, both of nearby Middletown. The family formerly lived in Princeton on Springfield Road.

DIZZY WHIRL

Five-Team Race a Circus. The five-team races in the National League could make any forecast of the September finish look good or bad, depending on what was or was not done in the season. A tradition, however, is mid-season check is always taken on a basis of the standings at the end play of the season. For Tom Brophy, longtime skipper and coach, far past his April forced end of an era was becoming all too accurate.

The Dodgers, miss on the pennant, quota on the spring, and by now, the Bums were in the middle of the set for all to see. Tom picked them to wind-up, but at the halfway point they were fourth and at the break for the annual All-Star Game, they could do no better than top second division.

The National League's sizzling five-team race, very possibly the hottest in its history, had Tom slightly off base in four of the first five contenders, although there were only two days in the race when his predicted order of Milwaukee, Brooklyn, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Philadelphia was absolutely correct. He isn't bucking down on the Braves to win, although he does feel that the uninitiated strength of the Cardinals may have a major effect on the race.

pennant-winning era of Dizzy and Daffy Dean, and the resurgence of Vaseline Bend Miller, all combine to make St. Louis a strong possibility, Tom feels. Along the same lines, he points out that good rookies (Ed Bouchie, Harry Anderson, Jack Schilder, Don Cardwell) will give the Phillips a big boost in the stretch run.

After an unanticipated burst by the Chicago White Sox and a lethargic six weeks debut by the Yankees, the American League has begun to fall into its normal pattern. Tom's only glimmering in that could be that the pennant point is to have pegged the Detroit Tigers three places higher than they are. "I figured all those young players—Kirkland, Kinsler, Maxwell, Gary—would help them give the Yankees a battle, but I may have been wrong," he said.

Baltimore and Washington are reverting to their standings as he forecast them, with the former about on target in the American League. Meanwhile, there are some 77 games left for each of the 16 teams, and by the end of September, the Yankee-Brave World Series that Tom forecast may be all set to begin.

The July 4 standings, compared with the April forecast:

SISLER A FIXTURE

Princetonian Set to Boston. If there were more pitchers in the American League who had the ability to beat the Yankees that 25-year-old Dave Sisler has shown, the race in the junior circuit would be more interesting. Sisler again into the running that has marked virtually every year of the present decade.

In his two years on the major league scene, the former Princetonian has beaten the world champions five times for the Boston Red Sox and has yet to lose to them. His overall record with an entry not good enough to rank as a post-season contender in the two seasons is 16 and 12, and in 1956 he was named to the Rookie All-Star team chosen by The Sporting News, known as the "Baseball Bible."

Sisler turned back the Yankees twice last season and then duplicated the feat within a week just after the 1956 campaign began. His rotation on the Boston pitching staff did not send him against the Bombers again until the first game of the July 4 doubleheader at the Yankee Stadium. His opponent was Bobby Shantz, who had high hopes of writing his tenth victory of the season into the books just before the schedule reached the mid-way point.

Sisler and his had it wrapped up with the Yankees took a 2-1 lead into the ninth, but by this time, Casey Stengel was of the opinion that the heat was too much for the former Athletics ace. But Sisler had planned him on the mound. It required a two-out, pinch-hit homer by Mickey Vernon to give Sisler a 3-2 victory, but the blow left the Yankees still looking for their first triumph over the one-time Ivy League.

Fine Career Here. From the time he was a prep school freshman (compiling a 6-0 record and an earned run average of 0.37) until he brought a premature end to his career by signing with the Red Sox, Sisler was a top-flight athlete. He helped Princeton win the District II NCAAA title in his sophomore year and after the Tigers had been eliminated in the national championships at Omaha, beat Harvard in a postponed game that gave Princeton the LITTLE CHANGER. Tull and Dan, Dave Sisler looks to TV viewers today surprisingly much like the Princeton undergraduate who signed with the Red Sox for a reported $40,000.

Eastern League title.

He was an all-Ivy selection in basketball (also playing on a championship Ivy team in this sport in 1953) and at the end of the 1955 season, was elected basketball captain. By that time, he had a two-year record of 13 and 4 and a sparkling earned run average of 1.23.

Sisler never represented Princeton in athletics again, a proposed change in the major league bonus rule necessitating his signing in December of his senior year if he were to receive the $40,000 offered him by Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox. Once he did so, his professional status made him ineligible for amateur baseball play.

In late June of 1956, after graduating from Princeton's tough School of Engineering with honors, Dave asked to be sent to Alton, Ill., to join the Western League farm club. The Red Sox management was ready to place him with Louisville, just one step away from the majors, but Sisler felt he'd see more action at a lower level.

His estimate of the situation could have been more accurate: in the last three seasons of the season, Dave started 20 games. "I was really dragging after that was over," he commented, "but I was the smartest decision I'd ever made in baseball."

Army and Then the Red Sox. With that experience behind him, Sisler went to the Army for two years, playing a good deal of baseball and basketball while stationed at Fort Meade, Md. In the spring of 1956, when his days in service were over, Major George Higgins asked him to report to the Red Sox camp at Sarasota, Fla.

Theoretically, Dave should have had a year's additional seasoning — this time with San Francisco, —Continued on Page 20

the Sox top farm club. But an early three-hitting start against the world champion Dodgers, plus repeated indication of unusual poise on the mound, convinced Higginson that he was big-league material right then.

Although the three-month stretch with Albany and two years' in-service intervention have not really careered him close to matching that of the great Ted Lyons. The former White Sox star is today one of the few pitchers to have never come from a college campus direct to the major leagues and stay there.

Some of George Sisler, one of the top hitting stars of all-time and now a member of the Hall of Fame, and brother of George Jr. (now general manager at Rochester) and Dick (now manager in 1950 earned the Phillies a pennant over the Dodgers), Dave has had baseball in his blood from the time he was old enough to sit in the stands and cheer.

He was lashed as a pitcher as a little boy, because he could always throw pretty hard and his eyesight was against him as a batter. His eyesight constricted with always available from the older members of his family, plus Dave's eagerness to learn and will to win did the rest.

If there was any particular reason for Sisler's success, he has supplied it without thought of taking credit for his quick rise from Ivy League to major league. "My father," he comments in master-of-the-fashion, "expects me to do well."

DOUBLEHEADER STAGED

Hotop Event on Brokaw. The National League All-Stars duplicated their Memorial Day victory over the American League midgets in the July 4th doubleheader. The players from the Bowes Construction and Nassau Oil teams defeated a combine picked from the Lions Club and Matthews Construction nines. Action took place on Brokaw Field,

Autographical Notes

Charlie Price of 10 Bayard Lane, a well-known magazine writer whose specialty is golf articles and who has described the reactions of most famous golfers to their shots, has shot, fired such a singleton himself last Saturday afternoon — a perfect stroke on Springfield's 10th yard par 3 15th hole. It was Price's first hole-in-one, after 19 years on the links as golfer and author, and he was delighted about it, though he will admit the difficult double-eagle he once scored on an Atlantic City course.

Meeting the rounds with Price, who finished the day with a one-over-par 73, were Scotty Hamley, John Becker and Bob Hirsch. All three players said the hole was a "hole-in-one" moment after it left the tee a direct hit. It was the fourth one registered by Springfield competitors this season.

With upwards of 150 in attendance

Behind the pitching of Tom Volz and Guy Wirsig, the National League midgets racked up a 4-0 triumph. Tom aided his cause by driving in two runs in the vice versa fourth. Roy Petruccaro and Dan Corrino scored for the American League.

Other players were Steve Nease, Ned Gandy, Al Spence, George Tucker, Jim Norris, Jim Thompson, Gary Bleibelt, John Lane, Jim Sassaman and Bob Decker for the American League. Tom Dyer, Buddy Blatt, George Smith, Mike Sweeney, Pete Johnson, Stanley Palmer and Bruce Olson for the American League.

The Bowers-Nassau Oil team won, 6-3, with the biggest extra-base hits going to Julius Cross, who tripled, and Tom Petrone, who had a home run. Pitchers taking part were Petrone, Jack Hawkins, Bruce Sandvik, Dave Blydenburgh, Pete Rogers and Art Barcelo.

Other outstanding action were Arnold Skaar, Larry Underwood, Carmen Stefanoff, Ronald Morgan, Albie Giese, Nick McGuire, Ben Voss, Marie McGuire, Bob Campbell, Tony Boccanfuso, Norman Cantor, Don Rose, Bob Lippmann and Archie Freedman, who opened the day's first game. Nassau Oil defeated Matthews 2-1, as Hawkins bested Blydenburgh in a mound duel and Petrone went three for three for Matthews. The Lions topped Bowers, 3-1. Rogers taking the victory and Sandvik the loss.

WOMEN'S TENNIS MONDAY

Mrs. BAYER to Defend Title. The fifth in the series of community tennis tournaments staged each summer by the Playgrounds Committee will start Monday, 5/15. Women of the Princeton area will compete for the singles title which Mrs. Peggy L. BAYER is expected to defend.

Other competitors should include Mrs. Barbara Smoyer, Mrs. Frances Hutter, Mrs. Alice Tucker, Mrs. Louise White, Mrs. Jane Wilmersdorf, Mrs. Joan McCall, Miss Anne Harrison, Miss Jane Bachelder and Miss Virginia Hutchinson. Entries may be made through tournament director, Joseph Bachelder, 10 E. 2d & Hill Street, and at the YMCA, 120 John Street.

Men's singles play progressed this week, with Ken Wilson, seeded first, defeating William Bahadur in his semi-final and Irwin East, trimming Peter Pfeifer, 6-0, 6-0. East is seeded second.

Other results: Jack Ferm defeated Ralph Fox, 6-4, 6-1; Jon Decker defeated Clement Pausch, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4, and Don Matthey won over Guy Clegg by default.

HDL LEADS LOOP

Posts Perfect Record. By virtue of their stellar play to date, with four games remaining, the softball representatives of the Princeton Ladies' Athletic Club, Inc., Laddies, this week looked like "shoo-ins" for the 1957 Firemen's Baseball League title. Up to (but not including) this week's round of competition, HDL forces had won eight straight games for a perfect slate so far this summer.

Hopewell (5-2) held the runners-up position this week, the firemen having better chance to catch the league-leaders than the rest of the loop because the Hopewell firefighters still have one more game to play than most of the other clubs. (The third place in the FBL (with 5-3 marks) were

Obituaries

Mrs. Edith S. Denny, 53, of 783 Stuyvesant Avenue, Trenton, died July 6 in Mercer Hospital. For the past 33 years, she had been a teacher in Lawrence Township School.

Mrs. Denny was a graduate of Trenton State Teachers College. She is survived by her mother and two brothers, both of whom are interred in the Penn Grove.

Princeton Engine Company No. 1 and Belle Mead, last season's two top clubs, while rounding out the standings were Princeton Junction (2-4), Lawrenceville (1-6) and Blawenburg (0-8).

PEACERS WINNING
Record Now 7-1. A 9-4 record and an 8-5 defeat of runner-up Montville Township kept the Princeton Athletic Club firmly atop the standings in the Tri-County Baseball League. Manders and Perpetus' entry now has taken seven of its eight games this season.

The failure of the Junction nine to field a team in its last four games has created an unusual situation which may hamper completion of the schedule. It has been made clear, however, that the other three entries—South Brunswick is the fourth—will carry on and teams are already under way to strengthen the circuit next season.

A fast start Tuesday night gave PAC all the impetus it needed to top Montgomery on the latter's and the first and second rounds were supplemented by single games in the fifth and sixth for the 8-5 triumph.

Perpetus was the only club to win all the way and setting its season's record at 2-0. Warren Huff was the siege gun, leading off a double, triple and home run to score the plate. Alan Annanmark collected two of the visitors' nine safeties.

South Brunswick will be here Friday for a game on Brokaw Field. Contests start at 6:15.

ANNIVERSARY SHOW

Tommy Marks 40th. The Orren Johnson Studio, photographers, will mark his years on Nassau Street with a retrospective exhibition of 100 photographs. The show will be open from 10 to 5 daily, starting Sunday, continuing through July 27 at the studio at 123 Nassau Street.

The show, exhibited in seven sections according to subject, was directed by Doris L. Arnett, for many years a member of the faculty of the Parsons School of Design in New York and Paris. One group of 100 prints which have received honors from state or national salons range from a high key study of Agnes Moorehead in white furs (1927) to a low key nude made this year.

The course of 40 years involved is shown by the changing trend in photography as well as dress. The first appearance of the Twenties with a single source of light, is supplanted by the diffused image of the Thirties, the greater focus of the later war years, and the high key treatment in the Fifties.

The studies of men include an etching portrait of Dr. George Smith of Princeton, oil on canvas of Orren Johnson, a handsome portrait from the earliest years of Colonel William Libby and a contrast in the modern treatment of Governor Robert B. Meyner in a seated three-quarter view.

There are 17 prints in the children's section and 14 in the bridal portfolio. Changes in style are particularly evident in the varying portraits of brides. The latest are deth and elegant, with perhaps more "glamour" and less romance than those of earlier date. The women's section is the largest in the exhibition.

Orren Jack Turner, first established his studio here in 1917 in a single room, over 68 Nassau Street, later demolished. The studio was twice moved, but has been at its present location at 123 Nassau for the past three decades.

Jacob B. Lutz came into the firm in 1932 and ultimately took over the direction of the studio when his teacher, Orren Jack Turner Jr., joined the studio. In 1946 they became partners and the two became partners and the two decades when Mr. Lutz became the leader.

MERICK READY
Open House Planned. The Princeton community has been invited to an open house at the Merick School on Sunday, July 20 and 21, from 12 noon to 4 p.m. This will be the first public inspection of the new long-term nursing unit at 79 Bayard Lane.

The invitation to visit Merwick, the new Elsie Procter Matthews unit of Princeton Hospital, has been extended by John H. Wallack Jr., president of the hospital's board of trustees.

Merwick was the Graduate College residence, and later the home of the Right Rev. Paul Mathews, bishop of New Jersey. It will house 42 guests and is designed specifically to provide an attractive home for elderly persons as well as the chronically ill, with the added factors of medical and nursing care.

A new two-story wing has been added to the original gabled structure which is centered in nine bays fully landscaped across the front. The building has been kept, thanks to the gardens and many fine old trees and shrubs which have not been touched. The great hall will provide a meeting place with the easy accessibility of medical and social affairs of Princeton.

Princeton is expected to be a major point of appeal to potential residents.

INSTITUTE OF THEOLOGY

Bishop's Players to Participate. A novel feature of this year's Institute of Theology at the Princeton Theological Seminary will be the participation of the Bishop's Players, a repertory troupe from California. The players specialize in religious drama and have made quite a reputation for themselves in the past few years.

Members of the troupe will play a dual role in the Institute. They will appear in Biblical court cases in Bible study and current theological problems. They will also have a hand in presenting a number of religious plays for the entertainment and the benefit of the participants in the Institute.

On the other hand, the players will follow the schedule of the Institute in order to gain a theological background. More than 250 ministers and Christian workers will have regular sessions at the Institute which began last July 18. Members of the Princeton community are invited to the meetings and may enroll for the courses.

Ten New Commandments. A youth leader of the Seventh-Day Adventists has written a new set of "Ten Commandments for Teen-Agers" at the Adventists' fifth annual summer conference. Some 2,000 students, mostly young and children, participated in the camp meeting on the Adventists' 187-acre campsite in Kingaton, New York. Zykonia, a member of the youth action of the New Jersey Conference of Adventists, proposed the following "ten commandments" at a special meeting for teen-agers:

1. Thou shalt have good, clean Christian ton-tots of life.
2. Thou shalt have many friends.
3. Thou shalt think of thy body at 15 how it shall be in 20. Treat it accordingly.

4. Thou shall attend church regularly; it shall be an oil on thy troublesome youthful waters.
5. Thou shalt not call thy parents "squares" for thou art only raised a few years from parenthood yourself.
6. Thou shall keep the face toward school, for it will make thee wiser than thy unshoed fellows.

7. Thou shall lift up thy voice against all evil; it will make a real man of you.
8. Thou shall keep from becoming a slouch or a fashion plate; the Lord diethketh both.
9. Thou shall mix Christian principles in the more with thy daily life.
10. Thou shall not bow thy knee to "Elvis," "Frankie" or "Tab." God alone is worthy of thy worship.

SPECIAL SALE
at $29.50

This brick split level is, as they say in the grocery stores, sort of a "weekend sale", i.e., reduced temporarily for quick sale. It's an unusual house—one that would appeal greatly or not at all, depending on individual taste. It's not even an ordinary split level but is built into the side of a hill so that a finished basement room (with lavatory) looks out on the pleasant lot, and the garage is also under the house. On the main level are a large living and dining area with a two-sided fireplace, four bedrooms and two baths. Closet and storage space are ample, and interesting interior use has been made of paneling and brick.

COMFORTABLE COMBINATION

for $35,000

We don't have a combination like this to offer—a nice stone and frame house, rear schools, on a pretty landscaped 1/2 acre, with four bedrooms (one so huge it could easily be made into two), two baths, and a realistic price. That about sums up the obvious advantages of the property. Judging by the calls we've had for just such a house, it shouldn't last long. Knowing the liveability of the house, it should not be on the market again for many years.
